

Octopus

Fascinating Facts

The word octopus comes from the Greek word for "eight footed". The octopus is a predator, hunting crabs, snails and small fish. The octopus can change its colour to match its surroundings and are usually found on the bottom of the ocean.

An octopus can lose an arm and it will grow back!

Octopus's have a beak (similar to a parrot) in the centre of their tentacles. They can bite with this beak and some produce venom that can kill a human!
